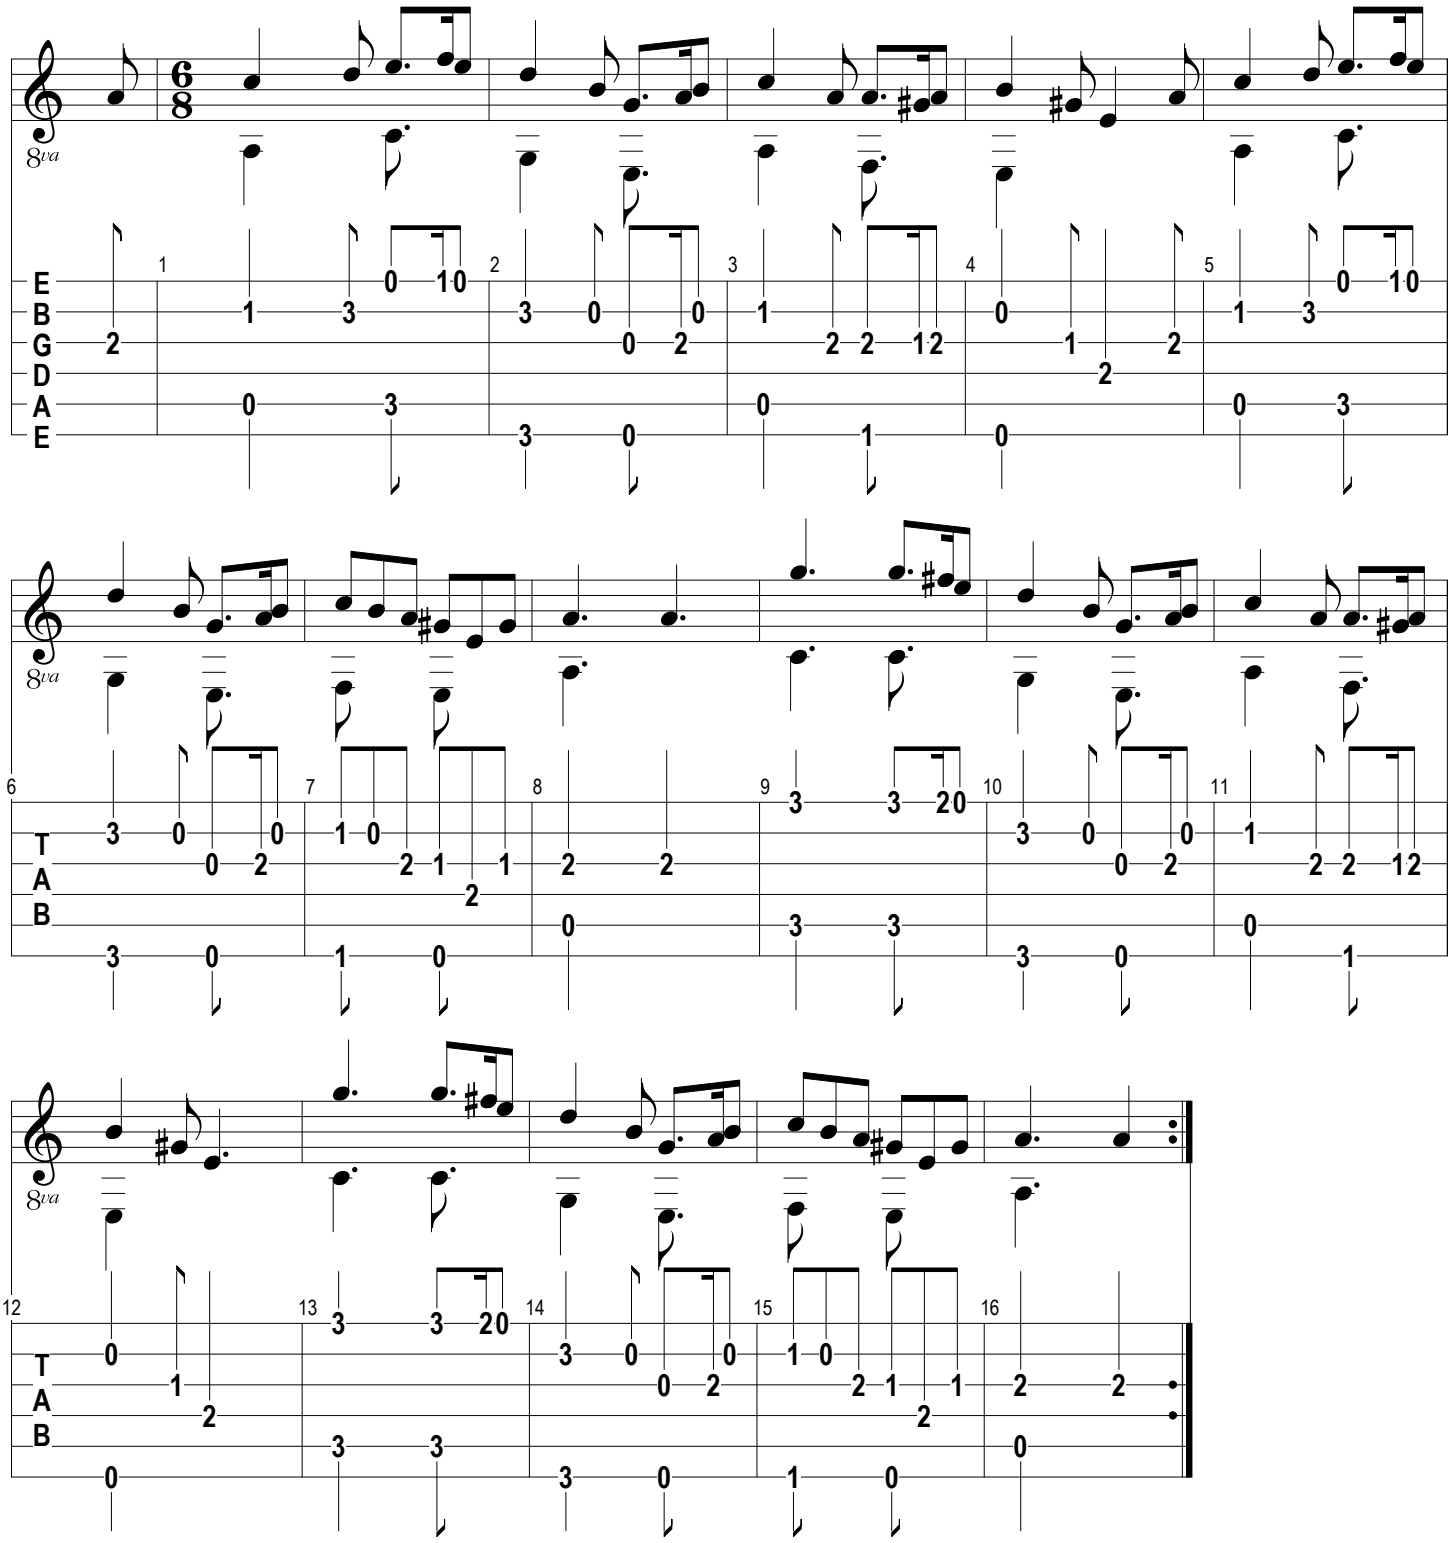
Greensleeves

King Henry VIII

TablEdited by Jayne Lloyd

The notes with their stems facing downwards in the tablature are the notes you need to play with your thumb. The notes with the stems facing upwards are played with your fingers.

I have not included the chord shapes for this piece, try to think in shapes of Am, C, G, F and write your own chord shapes in to help you anticipate the fingering.


Play evenly - which is harder than it sounds because you know the tune you will 'rush through' the parts you find easy to play.
